Mare, which was the Dam of several high-form'd Racers, and of Capt. Barrington's, and which has been lately seen at the Riding House in May-Fair, being now purchased of his Lordship by Mr. Gibson, will Cover at 10 Gs. a Mare, at Brands, near Kilburn, Middlesex. This Horse, which is near 15 Hands high, extremely beautiful, remarkably strong, and in perfect Health, was purchased at Yemine, in Arabia Fælix, of the Immaum, or King of Sinna, for 400l. Sterling; was brought from Yemine down the Red Sea to Bombay, and from thence to England, on board the Earl of Elgin Indiaman, as upon Inquiry will most undoubtedly appear; so that considering how very few, (if any Horses) that are called Arabians, have such authentic Proofs of their being really so; the Distance of the Place from whence he came, famous in Arabia for the best Breed of Horses; and the Length and Hazard of the Voyage. It may be presumed no Man could undertake to bring a Horse of equal Merit from thence, for less than 2000l.

Note, There are exceeding good Conveniencies for Mares and Colts, at Mr. Gibson's, at Brands, where the greatest Care will be taken of them.

Rattle's Dam was a Royal Mare, her Grandam by Darley's Arabian, and out of the Dam of Ld. Tracey's Whimsey, her Great Grandam by Sir T. Gresley's Bay Arabian, and out of a Mare of Mr. Cook's, called Vixen, which was out of the Dam of Dodsworth, and got by the Helmsley Turk.

The Money to be paid when the Mares are covered, or when taken away.

N. B. This most beautiful and valuable Horse, is one of the purest and most esteemed Breed amongst the Arabs, that has ever yet been brought to the western Parts of Europe; having been purchased at the Distance of thirty Days Journey from St. John D'Acre, the nearest Sea Port to the Deserts of Arabia, by Philip John, an Armenian, sent by Mr. Bell about 4 Years ago, on Purpose, and with an unlimited Commission, to buy the best and most genuine bred Horse he could find in all Arabia, at any Price; and who, as well from his great Skill in Horses (as is now well known to many Noblemen of the highest Rank here) as from his perfect Acquaintance with the Language and Manners of the Arabs, was enabled to execute the Commission Mr. Bell had given him in a Manner no European could have done; in Consequence whereof, by his Address, and by Means of the valuable Presents he made to Beny Suckr, the principal Chief, and Commander of all the different Tribes of Arabs of those Deserts, and to the Skeks other great Men there, he not only got Permission to travel into any Part of the Deserts, and to take his Choice of all the most esteemed Horses there, but even obtained the Favour of purchasing the Horse, now Mr. Bell's, out of Beny Suckr's own Stud, with an undoubted Assurance and Testimonial, (now in Mr. Bell's Hands) signed by all the principal Officers and chief Men of the Country, of this Horse being of the right Jelfy Blood, the most valued Breed in all Arabia, and in every respect a true and perfect Arab Horse. Mr. Bell hopes he may therefore without presumption repeat, that this is the most perfect, if not the first and only Horse of the genuine and most valuable Arab Breed, that has ever before been brought to England; and at the same Time, from the great original Price paid for him,—the value of the Presents made to the Arabs;—the great Expence incurred by having a Guard of ten Men, that Beny Suckr sent to attend him during a Journey of 30 Days, through the Deserts to St. John D'Acree,—his being carried from thence, by Land, to Aleppo,—from Aleppo to England by Sea—with the Charges of the Person who purchased him during his Journies and Voyages, for upwards of three Years, that he is also the most costly Arabian Horse that has yet been seen here. Mr. Bell therefore flatters himself that his having procured this inestimable Horse, at so very great an Expence, of Trouble and Money, for the Service of the Noblemen and Gentlemen Breeders, will intitle him to their Favour, and to the Continuance of that Encouragement they were pleased to give him the last Season, and for which he begs leave to return them his most grateful Acknowledgements of Thanks.

INTRODUCTORY MOTIVES FOR ESTABLISHING AN HIPPIATRIC INFIRMARY.

ALTHOUGH the HIPPIATRIC * ART is now in a low State, yet, was it much revered by the Philosophers and Physicians of Antiquity, who thought such a Subject not unworthy of their Attention, and have accordingly transmitted to Posterity all their Observations, Discoveries and Improvements, relative to that Branch of useful Science; which, through the shameful Supineness of Moderns, are almost universally forgotten or unknown. However, it must be owned, that a few of our Countrymen, among whom leads the Way, Andrew Snape, in his excellent Treatise of Hippiatric Anatomy, dedicated to and patronized by, King Charles the Second; Gibson, in his Work on the Diseases of Horses; as well as Bracken, Bridges, and some others, deserve to be mentioned with a grateful Respect, for the Improvements which they have been Authors of; as do also some eminent Foreigners, such as Soleysel, La Fosse, &c.

It is not improper here, and Candour directs us, to declare, that should we decline to avail ourselves of those Instructions, transmitted down to us from the Ancients, yet, we might easily derive from, and establish a medicinal Course for the curing the Diseases of Animals upon that, instituted for removing the Infirmities incident to Man. The latter, in its Origin, was very much assisted by the former, which now, by a reciprocal Service, offers powerful and numerous Auxiliaries through the multiplied Discoveries, that are really invaluable to Minds endowed with a Capacity of accurately comprehending the Variety of Connections and Disparity that are discernible in the Structure of Man and Animals; but subjecting, at the same Time, all analogical Appearances to the rigorous Tribunal of unbiassed Reason.

EDWARD SNAPE, Hippiatrist, of Grosvenor Mews, London, regulating his Plan from this Source, in Consequence of all due Pains taken, and proper Methods pursued, in order to qualify him to dissipate the too long obscurity in this Department of the healing Art, proposes to open a Horse-Infirmary, for receiving the sick, maimed, or wounded of that Species, being the Animal most deserving of our Care. The next Object of his Attention will be to train up Pupils, and render them duly qualified to acquit themselves with Reputation in the different Counties where it may be their Lot to fix, as well to their own Advantage as that of all who shall employ them.

* Is derived from two Greek Words, the one signifying Horse; and the other implying the medical Knowledge of Curing.

Seeing no Object in the Brute Part of Creation can be of higher Value than an Animal which is of the greatest Utility and indispensibly Necessary:—Wherefore, there shall be formed a continued Chain of all those Principles, the Knowledge of which, as well as the Application thereof, can be the Pupils only Guides to lead to clear and certain Demonstrations, whereby they may obtain the End proposed.

The healthy and sick Animal are to be equally the Objects of our Pupils Attention, which must be, on one Hand, to preserve the Parts of the healthy Machine in their due Integrity; and, on the other Hand, to repair the Disorders and Alterations that may happen therein. But, in order to preserve the Parts in their true Condition, and the Freedom which are properly signified by Health, as well as to apply Remedies to whatever Disorder may have happened, and which is implied by the word Sickness; it is first of all essentially necessary to know those Parts, their Action, as well as the physical Causes and Conditions of their Actions; because, when once the Action, its Causes and Conditions are known, the Pupil is then not far from the Knowledge of the proper Means to keep up the Functions in due and constant Vigour, as well as to recover the Disorders occasioned by internally vitiating Causes, or external Acts of Violence, not above the Power of Art to remove.

In our Contemplation of the Animal in Health, we shall duly examine its Structure exteriorly and interiorly.

It is usual with Anatomists (in their instructive Exhibitions) of the human Body, to attach themselves no farther to the naming and demonstrating the external Parts than as they appear necessary to convey clearer Ideas of, and to elucidate certain Discourses upon the human Fabric, deemed to be of the greatest Importance and Utility, in the Practice of Physick The Hippiartic Method must, however, be different; for it would be a Deviation from its Plan proposed, were it to begin with the like Division; which, on the Contrary, it means to restrain rather, and thereby to prove less complicated and perplexing to the Learner. No farther Enquiry will be made relative to the apparent or exterior Parts of a Horse, than to such as declare and ascertain those Qualities that are, in general, judged necessary to the several Uses for which Horses are intended.

The next Step to be taken will be to penetrate into the interior Fabric of the Animal; and, for this Purpose, the Pupils will be taught how, with a Dissecting Knife in Hand, to continue the requisite instructive Researches by their own Diligence and Industry, under the Guidance of an experienced Demonstrator, by which means they will acquire a complete Knowledge of the Form, of the Position, of the Connection, of the Texture, of the Limits and specific Qualifications observable in the different Parts of the Animal's Body, for the several Uses to which they are appropriated; and thus will be revealed to their Sagacity of what great Importance a true Display of the Secrets of Nature is, by deducing from a mature Consideration of these manifold Articles the Necessity of those Parts as well as of their Functions, in Consequence; and lastly, of their mutual Affinity or Relationship.

The Machine being thus decomposed, and its Organization duly investigated, all the Actions natural to a Horse, the Order which they observe, and the Rules, in Conformity to which they Operate, will be amply unfolded: And, as soon as the leading and efficient Causes of Life and Health are well known, the Absence or the Defect of what is requisite to those natural Actions, as well as any foreign or hidden Cause, partly opposing their Freedom, or entirely obstructing their Execution, will be more readily discovered; and this, undoubtedly, is the shortest and the best Method by which Pupils can attain the perfect Knowledge of Diseases.

The next Transition, after having delivered a Series of useful Precepts, will be to the Method of preventing Maladies, or of defeating them: The chief of which Means, both in the one and the other Case, is the Regimen that ought to be prescribed; but, as it often happens, that alone suffices not to remove the Disorder, proper mention should be made of all the other Succours which Art has suggested. They consist in the Operations necessary to be performed; and in those Remedies to which Recourse must indispensibly be had.

The greatest Care will be taken to avoid the Inconvenience of expensive and useless pharmaceutic Compositions, for which Physic, in former Times, valued herself so much; and that Soleysel, misled by an Apothecary, hath introduced into his Hippiatria, in a very immethodical and puerile Manner. We disclaim all Secrets, all chymical Arcana, all pretended Nostrums, in which People of every Rank and Condition but too often and too blindly confide.

A small Number of select Remedies, whose Efficacy has been experienced in different Animals and in different Diseases, shall suffice for the Purpose proposed; and none other will we prescribe, preferring simple Medicaments and easy Preparations; being convinced of their being more adapted to assist, than to alarm Nature in the Œconomy of her Functions.

Thus far Pupils will, no doubt, be strongly affected by the various Truths upon which the Hippiatric Theory is founded; which, notwithstanding their Certainty and Evidence, in Point of Doctrine, must be farther confirm'd by Applications in Practice: For which Intent this Infirmary will constantly be supplied with a sufficient Number of sick Animals, to contribute to the Instruction of the Pupils in the best Manner of treating them; whether by the administering of Physic, or performing Operations, as each Particular Case may require.

We shall carefully examine in the several Bodies there will be an Occasion of operating on, (in order to throw a new Light upon the Lectures) their Nature, Strength, Weakness, Age, the natural, or non-natural State of their Functions; and by thus combining an infinite variety of Circumstances, the Pupils will, in each Case, be taught, by Experience, the true Application of those Principles they shall have learned: And the Consequence will be, that an Animal, attacked by any alarming Distempers, shall not (as is but too frequent) be immediately sentenced to fall a Victim in the Hands of its despairing Owner.

LONDON, Jan. 1, 1766.

For establishing by SUBSCRIPTION,

A N

HIPPIATRIC INFIRMARY.

By EDWARD SNAPE, of Grosvenor's-Mews.

1. IT being an almost universal Complaint, that when a Horse of Value is either Sick or receives a Hurt, the Proprietor knows not where to apply, with any kind of assured Hopes, for the dumb Animal's being relieved, on Account of the gross Ignorance of those Persons who have too generally obtruded themselves, as properly qualified for such an Undertaking; although quite Strangers both to the Structure of a Horse, or Virtues of the Remedies to be given inwardly, or applied exteriorly. Nor in the Operation Part, when requisite, can their Skill be considered in a more advantageous Light. How many shocking Consequences are daily seen of their undexterously handling a Knife, whether for the Cure of any sore Part, or for docking, nicking, gelding, &c.

2. To put an End to this too justly founded Complaint, Edward Snape, who has made himself a competent Master of the Fabric of a Horse, as well as of the Materia Medica, so far as relates to that Animal, and is, moreover, thoroughly conversant in the operative Part, proposes to open an Hippiatric Infirmary, for the receiving and treating Horses, sick, hurt, and wounded, &c.

3. That whatever useful Knowledge he may have acquired, or Improvements made, may not be lost and buried with him, he proposes a Course of Hippiatric Lectures, for the Instruction of Pupils in his Profession, who will be taught the Anatomy of a Horse, and the Virtues of the medical Drugs applicable on all Occasions; with the best manner of operating in every Circumstance; besides the Art of docking, nicking, gelding, &c. He will also give particular Instructions about the Foot of a Horse, and the manner of shoeing him in the best Form, both for the Safety of himself and Rider; on which Subject will be communicated certain Observations he has made, to prevent the Frequency of lamed Horses: A Disgrace peculiar to this Kingdom.

4. The Terms of Admission to the Course of Lectures, and being taught to perform the several Operations, as well as of inspecting the Practice of the Infirmary, will be ascertained in the Regulations thereof, to be seen at the Infirmary, on the opening of it, the first Day of March next. The obvious Consequence of this Proposal is, that henceforward Persons properly instructed, will be spread throughout the Kingdom, for the Preservation and Recovery of these domestic and valuable Animals, that daily fall such numerous victims in the Hands of ignorant Pretenders. Besides, what a Saving and Gain must result to the Nation in consequence!

5. Any curious Gentlemen, or others, who, through Fondness for their Horses Welfare, shall chuse, may attend the above proposed Courses of Lectures, at the same Time with the Pupils, or at other Hours, as shall be agreed upon. By such an Attention they will be enabled to judge of the Capacity of those who shall undertake to cure their Horses.

6. Medicinal Chests, for all Diseases of Horses, prepared in the most accurate manner, with Directions how to use them, will be sold at the same Place, which, (in order to be assured of their Goodness) the Proposer buys at the first Hand, and sees prepared under his own Eye.

7. On the first Day of March next the Hippiatric Infirmary will be opened, with all necessary Requisites, and proper Servants, for the Reception of sick Horses.—Two Guineas, paid at the Time of subscribing, establishes a Right of sending one Horse to the Infirmary, in all Cases of Ailment, for the Space of one Year, without any farther Taxation than that of his Keep, which must be paid for at any Stables; and every Horse, after the first admitted, which a Subscriber shall send, is to be admitted to the same Right, on the Footing of one Guinea per Year, which is to begin on every first Day of March. The Horses of Non-subscribers to be admitted, treated, and paid for, according to their respective Cases.

8. To prevent all Objections, in case any contagious Distemper should prevail among Horses, there is already provided an extra Receptacle, whither the infected will be sent, and taken Care of; by Means of which Precaution the untainted can receive no Detriment from them.

9. A very commodious Method for conveying Horses lamed, or in whatever way injured, so as to prevent their walking from any Part of London, the neighbouring Towns, Villages, &c. has been devised, and will be made use of, in order to avoid making the Animal suffer additional Pain.

10. The English Nation, being justly celebrated for having the finest Breed of Horses, as well as of the highest Price, it is natural to think, that a chearful Encouragement will be given to a Proposal, which so strikingly tends to an universal Utility.

11. Edward Snape, of Grosvenor's-Mews, the original Proposer of this Plan, humbly founds the Recommendation of himself and Undertaking to the Patronage of the Public, on his having had the Honour of being known to most of the Nobility, Gentry and others, for a long series of Years; on having faithfully discharged all Trust, which they had in him reposed; and his Engagements in general (where a Possibility of Cure remained) having been crowned with Success.

Subscriptions for this Infirmary are taken in as follows; by Mr. Edward Snape, in Grosvenor's-Mews, and at his House near Putney; by Mr. Nathaniel Bever, at his Repository in St. Martin's-Lane; and by Mr. John Langborn, at his Repository in Barbican, near Aldersgate-Street.
